Foreword

In the few short months following the 1962 Kentucky Legislature's approval of a community college in Elizabethtown, the hill between College Street and St. John's Road was transformed from a picturesque rural scene to a bustling center of construction and organization. Local citizens, comprising the North Central Education Foundation, made this transformation possible through their interest and labor in raising the money for the land and obtaining the popular support of this endeavor.

In September of 1964, the first class of 364 was enrolled with a full-time faculty of 10. The next fall the enrollment surpassed by 35 the 500-student capacity of the building. The rapid growth of E.C.C. is an indication of the fruitfulness of the work of administration, local citizens and students.

The increased curriculum and enrollment are also indications of the cooperation of the administration and the Advisory Board, which embodies the representation of the community, in coordinating the needs of the community and the facilities offered by the college.

The Advisory Board consists of representatives from the various communities who also represent the varied vocations of the area. Robert Wade, Glendale, chairman of the board, represents the agricultural industry of the community. J. Ray Jenkins, Elizabethtown; Bernie Sears, Radcliff; James D. LaRue, Jr., Hodgenville and Lee Stearman, Munfordville are prominent figures in the business and industry of the surrounding communities. A feminine touch is added to the board by the presence of Mrs. C. B. Morgan, a city council member from Leitchfield.

If the remarkable advances of the past three years are indications of the future, Elizabethtown Community College will exert a major influence upon the development and growth of the community.

The accomplishments of the first class are proof that the faith these students exhibited in the value of the community institution was not misplaced.

Mr. Don Wallace, E.C.C.'s calm and efficient English instructor, greeted each student farther down the registration line.

On registration day, September 1, 1964, Mr. Deusner charmed all the scared freshmen with his antics.

The Year That Was a Milestone in the

The boys soon organized four intramural football teams which saw action on E.C.C.'s left field on Friday afternoons.

Winner of the intramural season was the Vikings, captained by Melvin Blair. Mr. Tom Easterly served as co-ordinator and referee for the intramural teams.

E.C.C.'s first queen was selected to reign over the first Valentine Dance. Nineteen girls were nominated by the student body to vie for the title.

Community's History

One difficulty connected with a commuting school such as Elizabethtown was discovered when it snowed, for a number of students drove as far as forty miles one way to classes. Nevertheless, the spirit of a good snowball fight was not dampened by the icy roads.

The Christmas Dance was the first dress-up affair for the college.

Young instructors, such as Mr. Deusner and Mr. Stephens, helped to create a youthful atmosphere.

Delta Sigma Chi girls worked frantically to prepare for the first rush party at E.C.C.

Kappa Phi Kappa girls entertained the rushees with a "Mother Goose" skit.

More About 1964

Lots of dust was raised at E.C.C.'s first "Little Bitty Kentucky Derby."

The LBKD served the same purpose for E.C.C. as a basketball or football tournament might for other schools.

Dedication

Untiring energy and driving initiative characterize the individual who has had the responsibility of developing E.C.C. into more than a building with empty rooms. The southern drawl, good humor and soft heart have eased some tense moments in E.C.C.'s short past and endeared him to those who know him well. For being the highly individual person he is and because of the tremendous task he has performed and is still performing, it is only appropriate that the first yearbook of Elizabethtown Community College be dedicated to the first Director of this institution, Dr. James S. Owen.

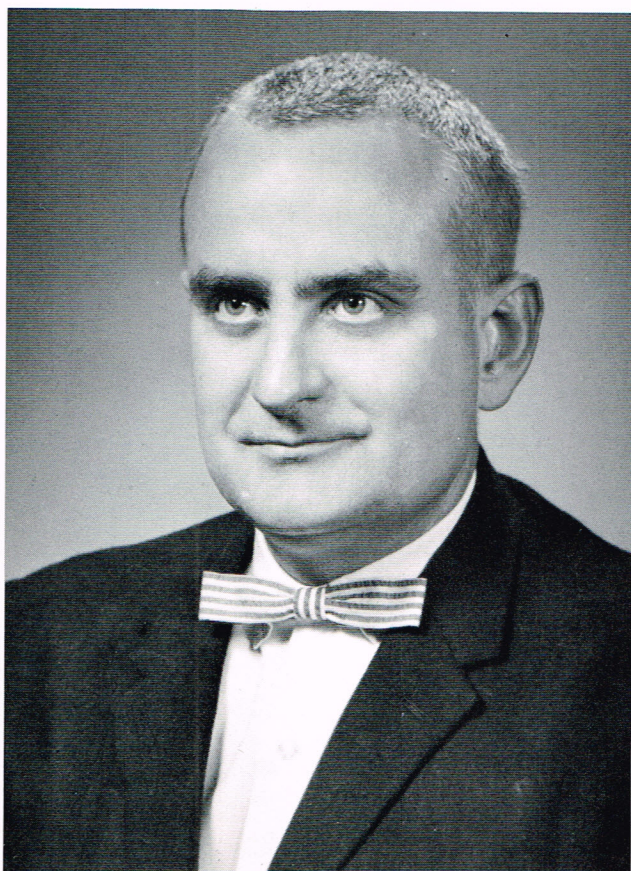

Administration and Faculty

One of the attractive features of the community college system, of which the Elizabethtown Community College is a part, is that students receive personal aid and guidance from instructors and administrators. This extra attention and concern definitely help students adapt more readily to the vigorous schedule demanded in college study. The E.C.C. administrators and instructors are willing and ready to give assistance to the students when it is needed.

The Director

A graying, burly man (as he was described in one news article) Dr. Jim Owen, a native of Alabama, serves in the capacity of Director of the Elizabethtown Community College.

The construction was not yet completed when he received his appointment as Director of the community college in September, 1963. Before his appointment to Elizabethtown, Dr. Owen taught and coached in several Alabama and Georgia high schools. This experience and his extensive training--he received his Master's from Peabody and his Doctor of Education Degree from Auburn--provided him with the ability to build a college program such as the one at Elizabethtown.

Since their arrival in Elizabethtown, his family--his wife, Nancy Lea, and children, Beth, Steve and Pat--have become an integral part of the community. He is an Elder in the Elizabethtown Presbyterian Church and is a member of the Rotary Club.

The title of Bursar-Recorder, whatever its original definition may have been, has become a symbol of the gentleman who could solve practically any problem that might arise. This gentleman? He is Mr. Robert Keen, the friendly, slightly balding man who has served as jack-of-all-trades. A graduate of Eastern Kentucky State College--he also received his Master's from there--and a native of Buckhorn, Kentucky, Mr. Keen has labored tirelessly not only to fulfill the responsibilities of Bursar-Recorder but also to resolve the pressures and problems which arise in the course of an average day at E.C.C. He has the amazing characteristic of seldom losing his temper even under extraordinary pressure.

His wife, Georgia, has worked in the college library; his daughter Karen is in elementary school. He is active in the choir of the Elizabethtown Presbyterian Church and is a Deacon there. He is also a member of the local Lion's Club.

His talent and ability have greatly aided Dr. Owen in organizing and executing the many administrative responsibilities.

Bursar-Recorder

Administrative Associates

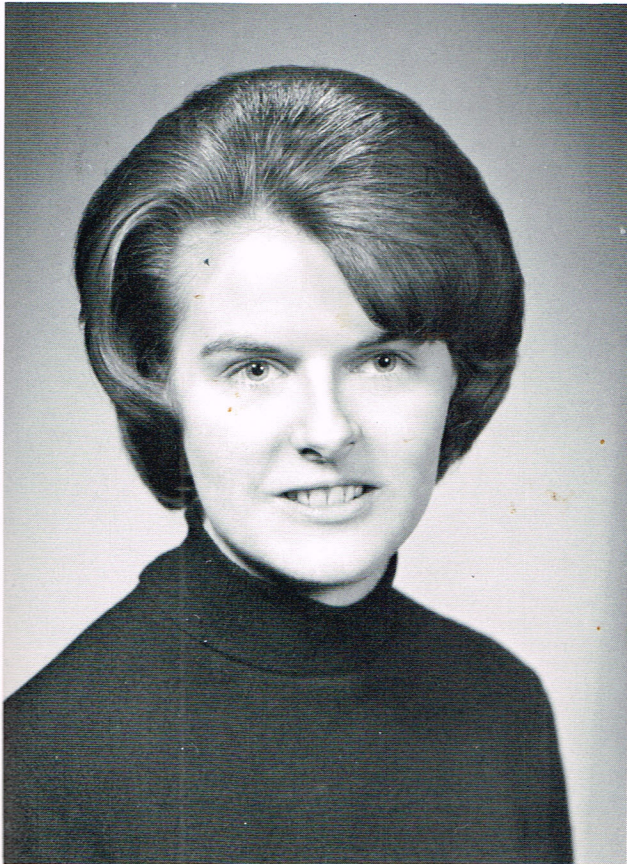

Mrs. Norma Kenigsberg joined the staff in January, 1966. She assumed many of the duties that the Bursar-Recorder had undertaken because of limited personnel. Her capable and friendly manner has quickly become a vital part of E.C.C. A graduate of Vassar College, she received her M.P.A. from The City College of New York.

Miss Betty Jane McFarland was given the tremendous task of beginning E.C.C.'s library. Through her efforts, the already too small library has grown from empty shelves to 7,500 volumes and 76 periodicals. She received her A.B. from Western Ky. State College, her M.A. from George Peabody College and her M.A. in Library Science from George Peabody College.

Before taking a leave of absence in January of 1966 to continue work on his doctorate, Mr. Updike served as part-time counselor, bowling instructor and education teacher. He was graduated from Kentucky Wesleyan College; he received his M.A. from the University of Kentucky and his A.S.C.ed from the University of Louisville.

Administrative Assistants

The women behind the scenes at E.C.C. lend an efficient and feminine touch to the mounds of work necessary to keep the college's wheels rolling smoothly. (From top left to right) Miss Judy Amos, who was one of the First Student workers, accepted a full-time position as Accounting Secretary in the summer of 1965.

Mrs. Linda Beeler was also employed in the summer of 1965. Brisk and efficient, Mrs. Beeler is the Nursing Department's secretary.

A pioneer with Dr. Owen, lovely Mrs. Martha Yates began work in November of 1963 before E.C.C. was officially opened. She continues to give the main office a professional grace and charm with her efficient secretarial skills.

The Commerce Department provided the first terminal program offered by the Elizabethtown Community College. In the secretarial field there were a one-year Certificate Program and a two-year Associate Degree Program designed for those persons desiring college credit as well as secretarial training. Medical and legal secretarial training will be included in the future curriculum.

The secretarial students have had an opportunity to participate in a cooperative program with a local industry which provided the students with on-the-job training. The selected students worked part time and carried at least a twelve-hour class load at the college.

Commerce

A student planning to obtain a Bachelor's Degree in general business, economics, banking, personnel management, marketing or accounting is given an excellent opportunity to meet lower division requirements for these fields in a transfer program. Terminal programs, in which a student may receive an Associate Degree, are offered in accounting and marketing.

Foreign Language

The foreign language curriculum consists of French, German and Spanish. During the past two years, students could earn twelve credit hours in French and German and six hours in Spanish. Mr. Tom Easterly filled the capacity of foreign language instructor in 1964-65. Miss Ryan taught German and French during the past year.

"Readin'" and "ritin'" are two basic skills required for success in any area of life. It would seem that twelve previous years of English grammar and composition as well as an equal number of years of "readin'" or literature would provide college freshmen with a sound background for college composition, humanities and literature courses. Surprisingly, for most students, freshman composition is an arduous task to execute; and many students are found "dragging their feet" through the six-hour requirement for all students.

M.A. Ohio University

Included in the English Department's curriculum are American and English literature courses and an introductory literature course. The journalism and humanities offerings have also been taught by the English faculty. During the past year advanced freshman composition has been offered for those students exhibiting outstanding ability in English. Non-credit English courses have supplied basic information and skill to the students requiring a more stable foundation before entering regular freshman composition classes.

An Honors Reading Program was initiated during the spring of E.C.C.'s first year. Upon completion of this program, which requires passing a comprehensive examination and maintaining a 3.5 or higher grade point standing, a student will be graduated with High Honor.

The Associate Degree Nursing Program at E.C.C. is designed to meet the community's need for trained nurses.

A girl who chooses this program will take liberal arts courses as well as nursing courses. At the end of two years she is eligible to take the state exam to become a registered nurse. The first class of students in the program consisted of twenty-seven girls.

In the fall of 1964, the arrival of Mr. Hill as full-time sociology instructor and Mr. Rechlin as history instructor expanded the social science curriculum beyond the essential courses of United States history and western civilization.

Oh, is it possible that they were always so ambitious?

Student Activities

With the essentials of desire to accomplish and energy to spare, the students virtually made the extracurricular activities of the college. The student government was the first step toward developing student life; other groups soon followed. Interestingly enough, the activities of E.C.C. fit into four simple areas--social, publications, religious-centered and interest or vocation related. Although they are relatively few in number, these groups and their activities have constituted the heart of student life at E.C.C.

Student Congress

OFFICERS

President	Ronnie Benningfield
Vice-President.....	Richard Franklin
Recording Secretary	Karen Plouvier
Corresponding Secretary.....	Helen McCloy

Freshman Representatives

Larry Ford
George Hagan
Gary Avery
Gail Hack
Larry Catlett

Sophomore Representatives

Larry Holbert
Patricia Rock
Bobby Joe Gaslin
Sandy Blanton

Mr. Isbell--Advisor

Organized with the goal of uniting student opinion and activity, the Student Congress serves as a nucleus for student affairs. Representatives elected in the fall from each class and officers elected in the spring work together to organize the greatly needed student life at E.C.C. In addition, they cooperate with the Director and faculty in striving for good student-administration understanding.

OFFICERS

President.....	Larry Holbert
Vice-President.....	Jeff Krull
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Harold Winter
Pledge Trainer.....	Randy Bond
Sergeant-at-Arms.....	Glenn O'Nan

Motto: Knowledge through brotherhood.

Purpose: To contribute not only to the college community, but to the community as a whole and to promote fellowship among its members.

During the months of September and October, an ambitious group of men worked to organize a fraternity. These men were occupied with choosing an appropriate Greek name and recruiting members.

Finally, the fraternity was organized and active. One of the first activities was a hayride. The "Marryin' Sam" booth, which received so much attention at the Sadie Hawkins Dance, was a product of none other than the Sigma Phi's. The coke bar at the Valentine Dance was also arranged by its members. At a later date, the men sponsored a pitch tournament, which was a big success with the inhabitants of the recreation room.

Other activities in which the Sigma Phi's participated were: helping with the blood program, donating clothes for Vietnam orphans, presenting Christmas cards to faculty members and assisting with the LBKD.

Delta Sigma Chi

OFFICERS

President	Martha Sanders
Vice-President.....	Patty Neal
Secretary	Janice Rose
Treasurer	Nancy Pfeiffer
Pledge Trainer	Amanda DeSpain

Miss Brandenburg--Advisor

Delta Sigma Chi's main objective is to promote learning, to foster school spirit and community service and to develop moral character and social fellowship.

One of the first activities of the Delta Sigma Chi sorority was a car wash. The girls also had a picnic. An expedition to see "The Sound of Music" in Louisville was a highlight of the year. The sisterhood of Delta Sigma Chi has helped decorate the school for all its dances for the benefit of everyone. While serving others, they wholeheartedly enjoy themselves and are a real fun-loving group.

Kappa Phi Kappa

OFFICERS

President	Pat Rock
Vice-President.....	Glenda Hawkins
Secretary-Treasurer.....	Shirley Outlaw
Pledge Trainer	Karen Plouvier
Chaplain	Carolyn Crady

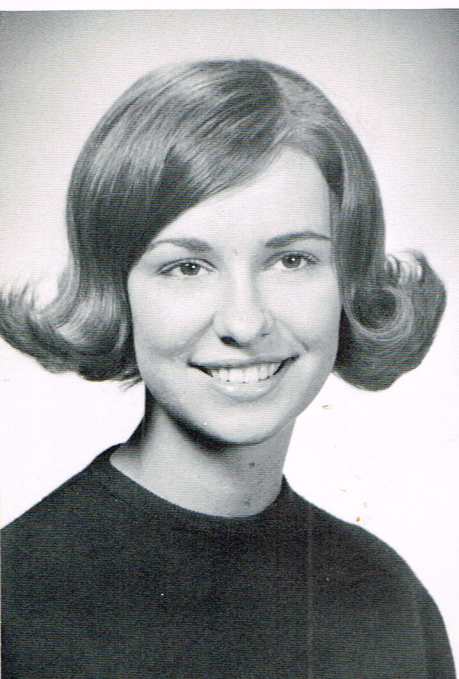

Faculty sponsors--Miss Alvey, Mrs. Lancaster

Kappa Phi Kappa works very hard to serve the school community to the best of their ability. They uphold the ideas of sisterhood, femininity, and Christian morality.

Along with the men of the fraternity, the Kappa Phi's co-sponsored a hay ride. To further show their love of the outdoor life, they went on a camping trip to Rough River.

The Kappa Phi's are always ready with willing ideas and energy when their help is needed to decorate for dances.

At the LBKD the Kappa Phi entered a tricycle team that placed first. One of their members was crowned Little Bitty Kentucky Derby Queen and went on to place in the top ten finalists at Lexington. All the girls are active in Student life at E.C.C.

The publication of E.C.C.'s first yearbook has been plagued with numerous trials and hardships. Not the least of these were inadequate finances and limited personnel.

To those persons who worked on a part-time basis, Sandy Blanton, Lottie Schieble, and Sarah Gorin, I give my deepest thanks. Donna Tefft, Joan Chapman and Diane McDonald were extremely willing and capable under the pressure of deadlines.

It is hoped that our work has produced a yearbook that will bring E.C.C. to life for anyone who reads it. The attitudes and views expressed are those of the editor and staff; however, we have conscientiously attempted to be truthful and fair in all verbal descriptions.

E.C.C.'s bi-monthly student newspaper is an attempt to inform the students of approaching events and to follow-up the activities as they have occurred.

Experimenting in off-set printing for the first time, the paper staff has encountered numerous difficulties including poor student interest as a major obstacle.

The journalism class, "Principles of News Writing," has composed the staff for the past semester.

The BSU, in order to serve the students through a Christ-centered, church-related and student-led program, has a wide variety of activities including noon-day devotion services and discussion groups. The group had a Valentine banquet and in April sponsored a hayride.

Newman Club

OFFICERS

President..... Marilyn Wiseman
Vice-President..... Jim Shumate
Secretary-Treasurer..... Eileen Longendyke

Miss Ryan--Advisor

The Newman Club strives to fulfill the needs of Catholic students on a non-Catholic campus by broadening their religious education, participating in charitable activities and expanding the spirit of ecumenicity.

The Newman Club on E.C.C.'s campus has proved to be one of the most effective organizations of the school. Its members combined efforts to win the trophy for the most team points at the LBKD. Activities have included a card party and hosting of several guest speakers.

Wesley Foundation

OFFICERS

President	Karen Plouvier
Vice-President.....	Richard Franklin
Secretary	Sherry Pile
Reverend Marshall Owen.....	Official Advisor
Reverend Douglas Greenwell	Active Advisor

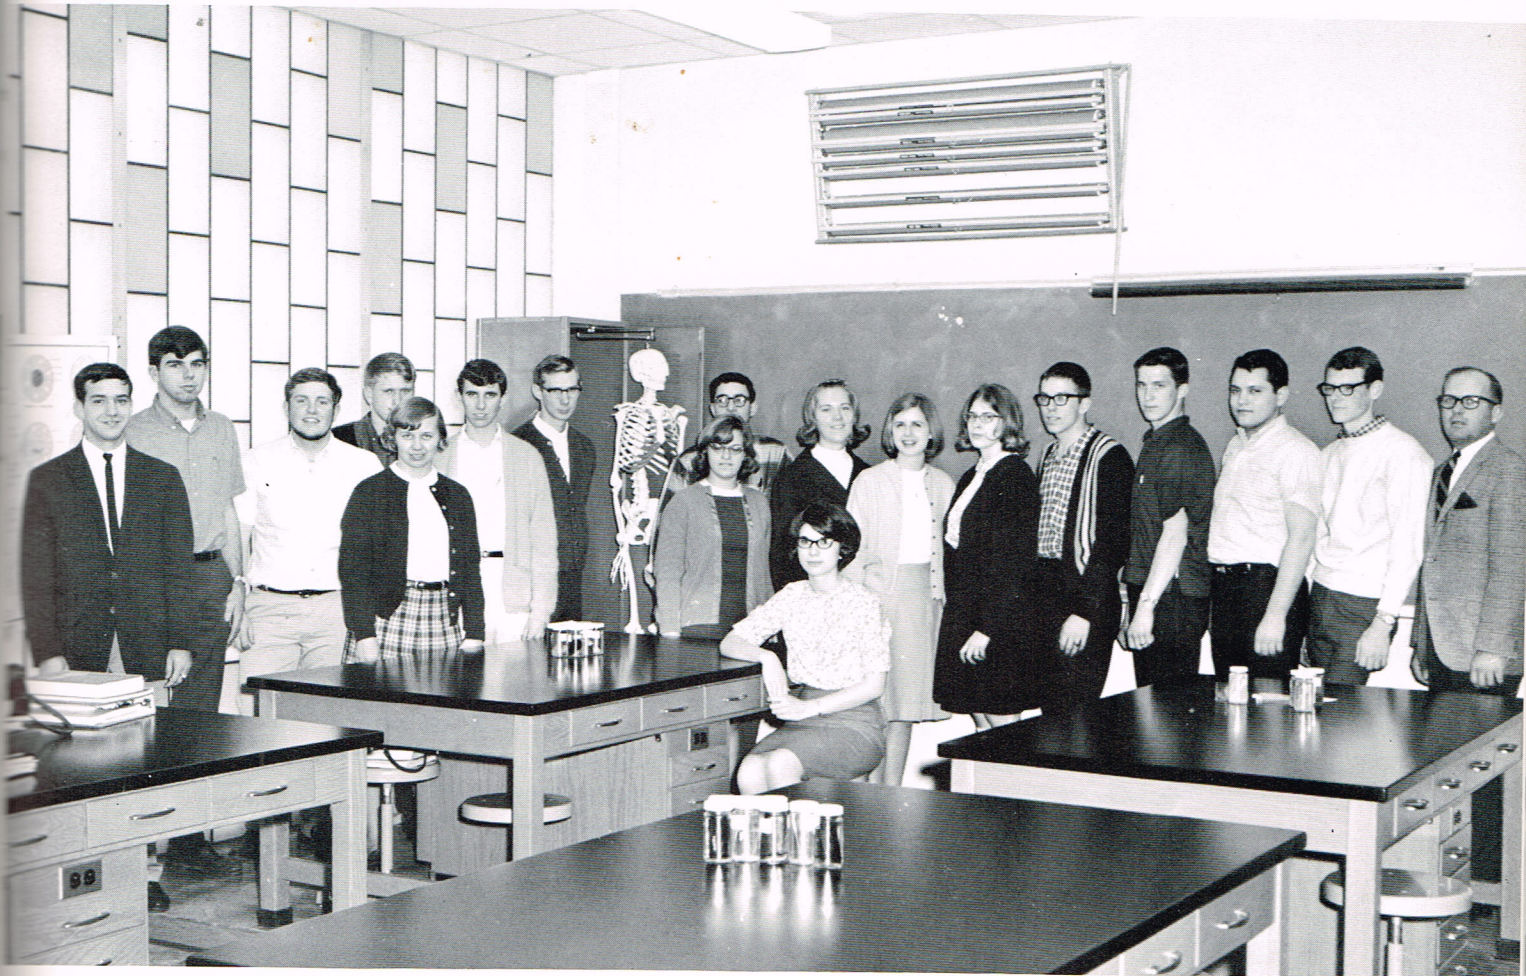

The Wesley Foundation is an organization of Methodist students which is associated with the Methodist Student Movement. Wesley Foundations are located on non-denominational campuses.

All students are invited to attend the noon weekly discussion groups. The discussions have ranged from topics on "Sex" to the "God Is Dead" theory. The Wesley Foundation sent three students to the Eighth Quadriennial Conference of Methodist students in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Biology Club

OFFICERS

President.....	Mary Ann Sorrell
Vice-President.....	Jim Cecil
Secretary.....	Sandy Blanton
Treasurer.....	Mary Burba Patterson
Reporter.....	Shelby Jett
Mr. Isbell--Advisor

The aim of the Biology Club is to inform its members of professional opportunities in the field of biology and its allied fields and to encourage high scholastic achievement among its members.

In order to maintain these goals, the Biology Club hosted several speakers at their meetings. Several of these speakers were: Dr. Jim Brown, Mr. Thomas Sorrell, and Helen deGraffinreid.

Active members of this club must have completed four hours of a biological science course or be working toward these four hours.

Among the activities of the Biology Club were the initiation of new members, a spring outing, and active participation in the bloodmobile.

Drama Club

OFFICERS

Presiding Chairman.....	Jim Shumate
Public Relations Chairman	Sarah Gorin
Program Chairman	Sandy Blanton
Social Chairman	Bettye Best
Business Chairman	Ted Zislis

Sponsor--Miss Utley

Learning to evaluate plays, movies and acting is the goal of the Drama Club. Various field trips to see current plays and movies have aided the group in reaching this goal.

One of the most important activities of the club has been the production of E.C.C.'s first dramatic offerings--"Our Town" and a one act play, "The Sisters McIntosh."

SNAK is an organization of student nurses throughout Kentucky. The E.C.C. organization is in the Louisville district. The main objective of SNAK is to familiarize student nurses with the nurses' associations.

Student Nurse Week was a busy week for the ambitious girls at E.C.C. The student nurses baked cookies, cupcakes, and made candy to sell. The girls also held a candy sale for the district.

At a later date, the student nurses showed their capabilities as hostesses at a formal tea held for parents, faculty, and visiting hospital personnel.

SNEA

OFFICERS

President	Tommy McDowell
Vice-President.....	Mary Ann Sorrell
Secretary	Iris Davis
Treasurer	Karen Harper

The major objective of SNEA is to interest all students who are preparing to teach in joining and becoming active in their professional organizations. The organization suffered through a disorganized year as they attempted to compete with other organizations. The members have, however, managed to maintain a few interests and have high hopes for next year.

E.C.C.'s faculty was dressed in full regalia for the affair.

The main speaker of the day was Dr. Shailer Bass, President of Dow Corning Corporation.

Centennial Convocation

The centennial celebration of the University of Kentucky was justification for similar festivities on the Elizabethtown campus. On September 27, 1965, E.C.C. was congested with officials from sister community colleges, the University, Michigan and our college community.

The afternoon program consisted of seminars concerning topics related to the community college system. Before the initial discussions, however, a chicken barbecue dinner was served to the numerous guests.

Several of the students present cornered Dr. Hodnett for some serious discussion.

A Bewitching Night

Halloween came to E.C.C. in the form of a masquerade dance. Even with a small attendance (UK was playing a football game.), the strange and amusing "creatures" present provided entertainment.

These are E.C.C. students?!!!!

The court joker and his gypsy lady were here, too.

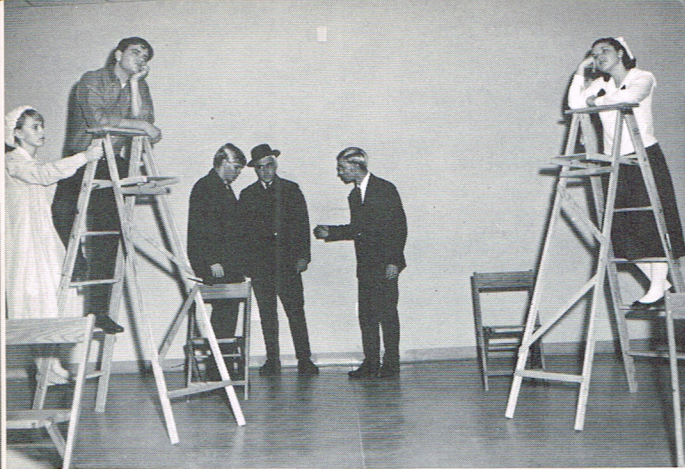

"Mr. and Miss Goblin," Connie Phillips and Gary Avery, who were chosen by a faculty committee, stand before the witch's house.

Sadie Had Her Day

Sandy Blanton and Phil Ratliff embodied the spirit of Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner at the first Sadie Hawkins' Day. Events of the day included a greased-pig race, pie-eating contest, po' boy supper and a girl-boy race. The pig wandered away after refusing to run. Gary Burnett ate three pies to win the pie-eating contest, and almost every girl caught a boy to the profit of "Marrying Sam."

The E.C.C. Players' successful production of "Our Town" was the first play in E.C.C.'s history. Neysa Routt and Danny Sigmon played the leading roles of Emily Webb and George Gibbs.

Emily painfully realizes the fact that her mother does not recognize her.

Christmas at E.C.C.

Along with thoughts of fig pudding and roasting chestnuts, Christmas brought to students' minds the Christmas dance, the trees in the lounge and finals.

Wine, women and song, well song anyway, were prevalent at the Christmas dance.

All the festivity began with the work of a few daring souls.

The BSU sang carols by the tree

Blood Everywhere

On January 28, 1966, E.C.C. performed one of its greatest community services--the hosting of the bloodmobile visit.

The "Blood Drop Trio" was part of the propaganda to persuade students to donate.

"When ever I feel afraid . . ."

Name, please?

No pulse??

Blood pressure and . . .
a doctor's check were required.

Cheerful student helpers, Jim and Lottie, dispensed orange juice and bottles.

"Don't laugh, it could be you."

Pints and pints of blood--295 in all.

Brave donors and the not-so-brave ones received cokes and cookies.

A moment of rest for one who answered the call for blood.

Cupid's Day

The annual Valentine dance was highlighted by the crowning of E.C.C.'s second Valentine Queen. Eleven girls were nominated with five being selected in a run-off election. The final vote occurred on Friday before the dance. Midway in the dance, the lucky girl was announced.

The girls nominated by popular vote were: Sandy McIntire, Joan Povey, Pat Rock, Sue Hayden, Mary Sorrell, Marilyn Wiseman, Luanne White, Joan Chapman, Mary Burba Patterson.

Miss Sue Hayden, a freshman from Lebanon Junction, was crowned Queen.

The reigning Queen, Miss Karen Plouvier, presented the new Queen with roses.

LBKD

Cries of "Go, Go!" and "Pull, Pull!" enlivened the biggest weekend of the year at E.C.C. in the form of the Little Bitty Kentucky Derby. Bike and trike races, tugs-of-war and skate board competition inspired students to brave the cold wind on E.C.C. hill to cheer on teammates. As the result of the competition among organizations, the Newman Club won the big trophy.

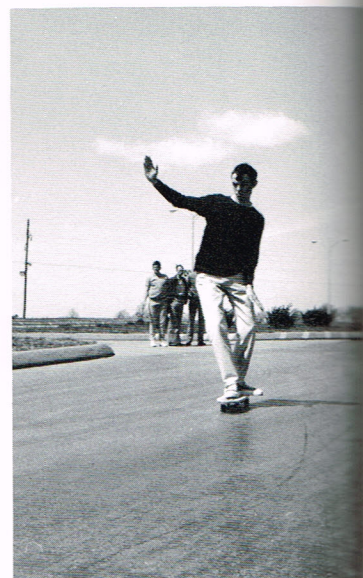

A helping hand from a teammate . . .

The exchanges required many helping hands.

Prominent on the scene were Miss Utley and Larry Holbert checking the details of all events. The faculty committee served tirelessly to help make the weekend a success.

Teams members comfort other members after a crushing tug-of-war defeat.

The astounding strength of some of our boys amazed the crowd.

Utter exhaustion!

... and in you go! The obstacle race left odd parts of one's anatomy in view.

LBKD Finale

The grand finale of E.C.C.'s LBKD weekend was the dance and the crowning of the queen and princess. The queen was selected from six college candidates on the basis of talent, poise and personality. The six candidates were: (pictured from top right) Luanne White, Eileen Longendyck, Donna Tefft, Wanda Greenwell, Neysa Routt and Burba Patterson. Burba won the title and placed in the top ten finalists in the LKD contest at the University. Phyllis Cruse from LaRue Co. High reigned as princess.

Student oriented convocations, such as a hoot'n anny, appealed to E.C.C. students.

Dr. Neil Plummer chats with students after enthralling an assembly of E.C.C. students with his fascinating world of words.

Famed Kentuckian folk singer, John Jacob Niles, visited the Elizabethtown campus.

Dr. Hugh Kenner from the University of California talks with students.

UK's Faculty Brass Quintet provided musical entertainment in one student assembly.

The new Recording Secretary for 1966-67, Sarah Gorin, returned to her seat after being installed by Dr. Owen in the first installation ceremony for the student government officers.

Helen McCloy lighted Burba Patterson's candle, signifying the transfer of responsibility to the new officer.

Student Congress Installation

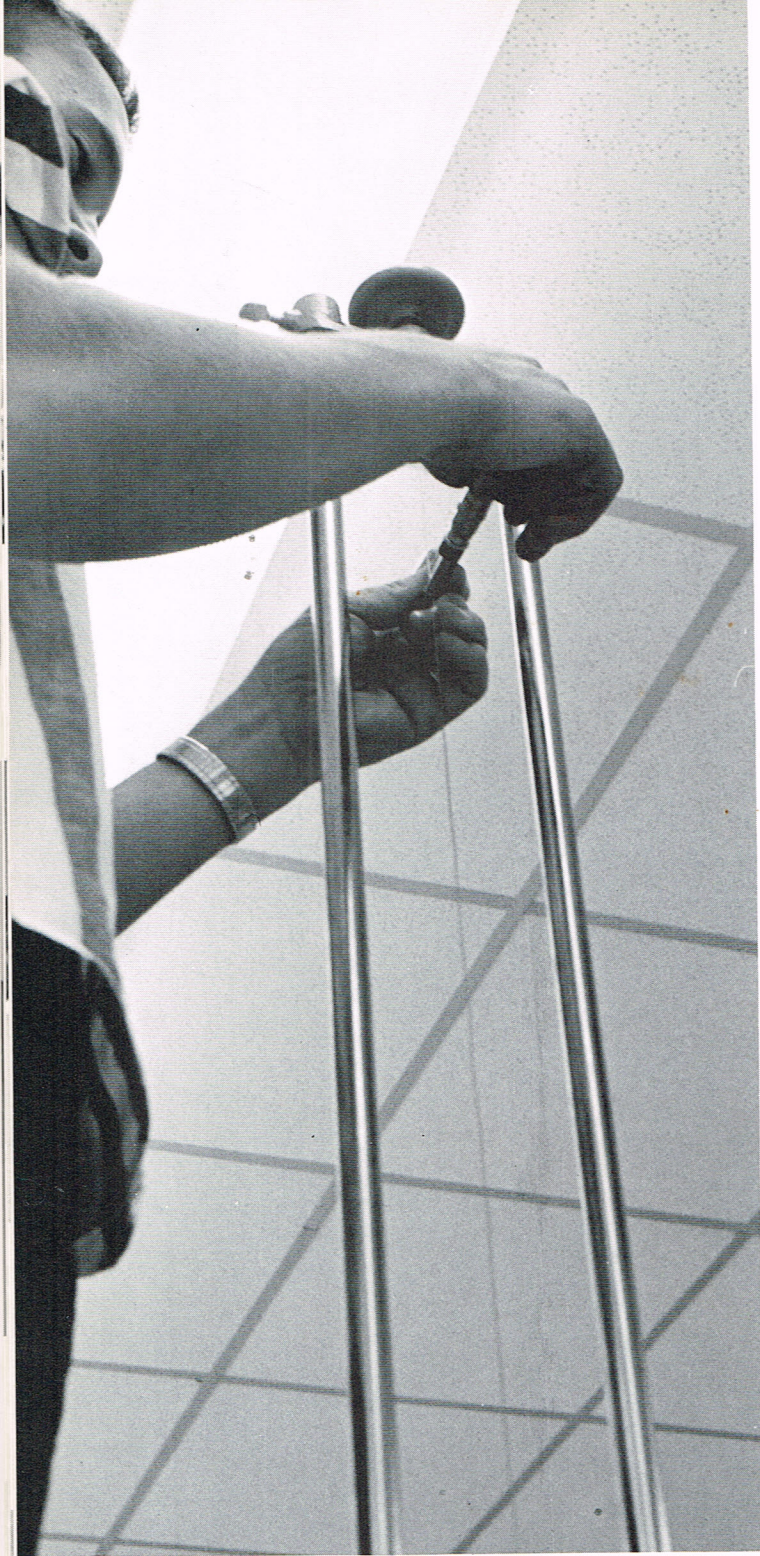

"George, this candle symbolized the characteristics of leadership . . . of the office of President." With these words Ronald Benningfield officially passed on to George Hagan the position he had held for two years at E.C.C.

Classes

Any institution of higher learning depends upon the men and women who enter its doors to give life to the tradition and spirit that will follow. The first classes of students to enter the doors of Elizabethtown Community College not only gave initial birth to the spirit of E.C.C. but laid the foundation for those hundreds of students who will come later. It has been and will continue to be these individuals who give E.C.C. the flavor of a truly significant institution of higher learning.

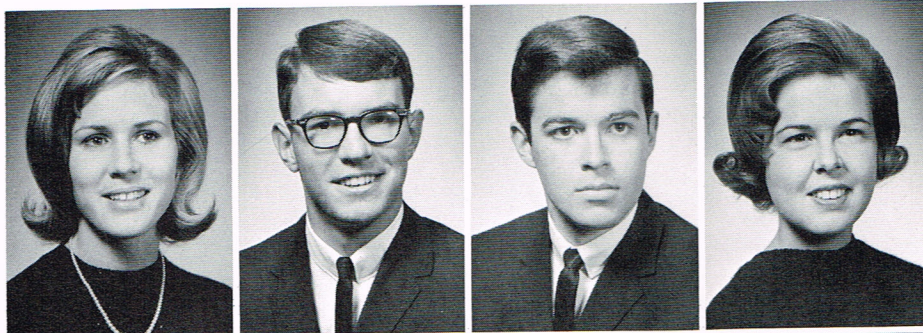

The emotions of a college sophomore are ones of uncertainty and security, desire and rejection, achievement and failure. Ahead, yet behind, a sophomore has begun but is not finished; he has achieved but has not won. To him the world is vibrant, yet dull. He is himself, yet someone else. He is a sophomore.

Physically, as well as intellectually, ECC offers to students a view of the world surrounding them and a glimpse of what might lie beyond the horizons.

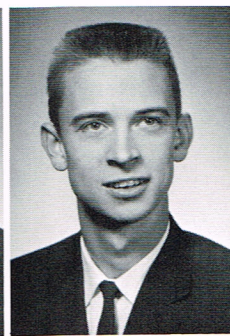

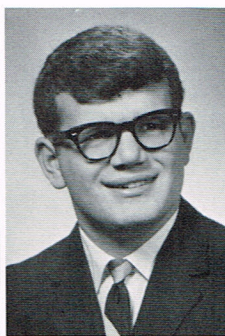

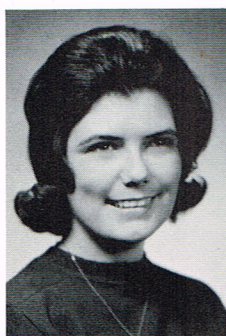

Sorority girls decorated for most ECC dances.

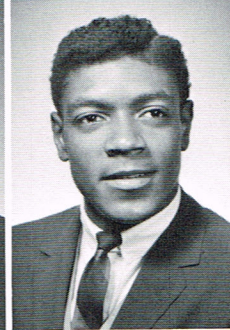

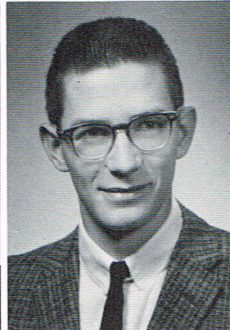

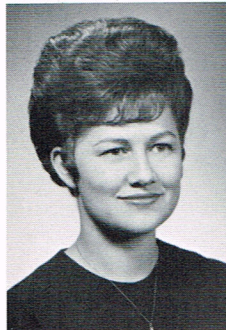

On ECC's spacious fields, football stars punted and passed with fervor.

In the 1966 LBKD, Kappa Phi girls tug heartily in the tug-o-war.

A major feat in the 1966 LBKD obstacle course was eating a cracker and whistling.

Freshmen

All hurry and bustle, anxious to make a good impression, uncertain, wary. These adjectives aptly describe the freshman's world as he enters a new realm of academic training, a new social order and a new way of thinking and living. Some fail to adapt and fall to the wayside, others learn to place emphasis on the important aspects of college and are better, more stable individuals because of this.

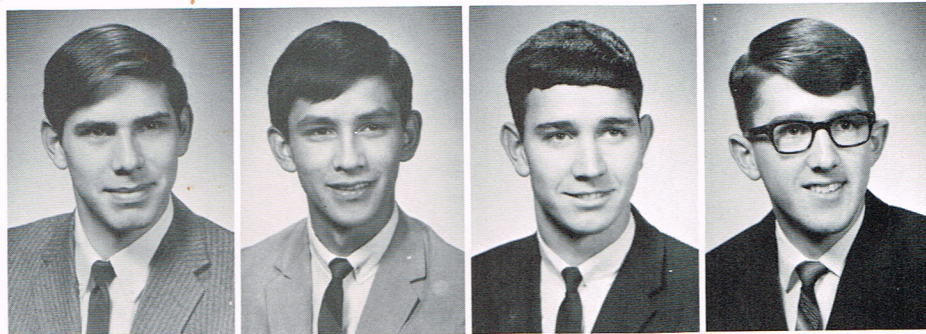

Waiting . . . and waiting . . . and waiting and . . .

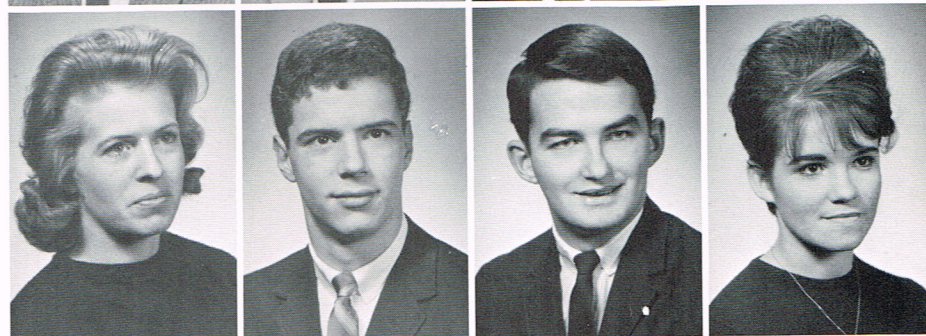

The most frequent question quickly became: "Is Mr. Keen in?"

Dear Readers,

The names which appear on the following pages are the names of those who made our yearbook possible financially!

Perhaps you do not know that the price you pay for each yearbook is only about two-thirds of the actual cost of that book. Each year the Ecco Staff must face the problem of raising enough funds to make up the difference between the cost and the lower selling price.

Each year members of the staff contact most of the businesses in Elizabethtown and surrounding areas. Most of the businessmen take time to talk with these students and to buy an ad in the yearbook.

We wish to thank the business people who constitute our financial sponsors for this year. Without them, there would have been no 1966 Ecco.

To show them that we appreciate their backing our school and our yearbook, let's back their businesses!

Graduation

Thirty-eight sophomores participated in the first annual graduation of Elizabethtown Community College on May 9, 1966. Dr. Stanley Wall, Associate Dean at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at UK delivered the graduation address.

The ceremony was possible only after much planning on the part of Dr. Owen and the Faculty Graduation Committee. For the first time, requirements for graduation were standardized for all UK Community Colleges. AA and AS were granted to those students who completed sixty-four semester hours in any transfer curriculum designated in the University's catalogue. Thirty of the last thirty-six hours had to be earned at Elizabethtown, and a cumulative average of 2.0 or higher was also required. For this graduation, certificates were granted to students who had completed from sixty to sixty-three semester hours toward an Associate Degree.
